QUINN BILL IS ENDORSED

Merchants Association Favors a Liberal Sunday.

The Merchants' Association set the stamp of its approval on the Quinn Sunday bill at a special meeting held in the rooms of the association yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of the merchants than usual and some lively discussion; all, however, kept their tempers and there was no quarreling. Although from the first it was to be seen that the majority sentiment was one way the opponents of the bill were not dismayed and put in their arguments with as much assurance as if they had been on the winning side. Like Horatius and his comrades at the bridge W. A. Bowen and his comrades of the minority, W. W. Hall and R. A. Jordan, stuck out to the last and against the overwhelming majority and although they did not win the day they at least won the admiration of many of their fellow members according to the talk after the meeting closed.

It was a foregone conclusion that the association was for the bill when Mr. McNerny introduced his resolution endorsing it. There was a wave of approval which swept around the room. M. Phillips seconded the resolution which was as follows:

Honolulu, March 28, 1905.
WHEREAS there is now pending before his Excellency, the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, a certain bill, passed by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, commonly known as the "Quinn Sunday Bill," and

WHEREAS the Governor has requested expression from the various Territorial interests as to their approval or disapproval of said bill,

Therefore, be it resolved by the Merchants' Association of Honolulu, at a meeting thereof held at the rooms of the association on Tuesday, the 28th day of March, 1905, that this association approves, and is unqualifiedly in favor of a law permitting reasonable recreation and freedom on Sunday.

AND RESOLVED FURTHER that the Quinn Sunday bill meets the present requirements of the Territory of Hawaii, as to the observance of Sunday.

RESOLVED FURTHER, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the association, and that the Secretary be instructed to forthwith forward a copy hereof to the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii.

After the motion to adopt had been made and seconded President, Smith began to call on the members one at a time for their opinions on the bill. At this juncture Mr. Bowen arose and said that he had heard that Mr. Smith had been introduced by Mr. McNerny as President of the Merchants' Association when he made his speech for the Quinn bill before the Governor. If this was a fact and the president was then acting as the representative of the association why was there any necessity of having another expression of opinion on the part of the association. In reply President Smith stated that he appeared before the Governor merely as a private citizen and Mr. McNerny stated that he had not introduced him as president of the association. He stated that the newspaper report to that effect was erroneous. This explanation was accepted by Mr. Bowen and the expression of opinions went on.

A number expressed themselves as in favor of the new law. When Mr. Bowen was called upon he spoke at some length in favor of the present law. He said that he would make his argument aside from moral and religious considerations although personally he believed in the Sabbath from that standpoint. But as the desire evidently was for a discussion of the subject from another phase he would treat it from the purely business standpoint. The main argument against the bill, he stated, was that it would give opportunities for increasing labor, and that if the opportunities were given, the labor on that day would be increased. The journeymen barbers had petitioned the Governor that their Sunday hours be not lengthened.

Mr. Bowen then told of the danger that the Orientals would put in soft drinks and thus be able to remain open. Then they would sell other things illegally. He understood that the High Sheriff had stated that it would be very difficult to enforce the law among this class. As for the plantations, he was sorry to say that work did go on there on Sundays. Mr. Bowen said that on this question he was in the same boat with the late Mr. Atherton who said that he would prefer that Ewa mill close down on Friday night so that repairs could be made on Saturday and Sunday be entirely undisturbed but he had to realize that he was but one of many shareholders and that he must recognize the opinions of others. However, only such work as was absolutely necessary should be done. Sunday should be the laboring man's free day. Mr. Bowen also spoke of the probability of sugar being loaded on ships if the new law went into effect. He personally believed that it was not the thing to do to work on Sunday.

Extracts from some of the other opinions are as follows:

M. Brash: Am not afraid of Oriental competition. Many of us close Saturday nights now and that is probably the time when the Oriental stores reap the biggest harvest. The class that patronizes the Oriental stores does not patronize the up-town stores much.

J. O. Lutted: We might tax stores that remain open on Sunday. I understand that the reason the barbers did not want a change is because they are afraid of the competition of the Oriental barbers.

D. H. Lewis: Believe the rights of the people to a more liberal Sunday should not be abridged.

H. Focke: I am most decidedly in favor of the Quinn bill. Mr. Focke referred to Mr. Bowen's statement about Mr. Atherton's views on work at Ewa. He stated that he supposed that a majority of the Ewa stock was held by Castle & Cooke and their friends. He then said that he recently went on a trip on the railway on Sunday. He saw a few men working the fields at Honolulu plantation remarked to a friend, "They are violating the Sunday law." When came to Ewa he saw men irrigating but said that that was a work of necessity but later saw men on the plantation loading firewood on a day.

He asked Mr. Bowen whether he thought that was right and Mr. Bowen said that it was not.

James Steiner: I am in favor of a more liberal Sunday law than the present one. If the Quinn bill is not a success we can change it in two years.

Q. H. Berrey: Conditions are different here from those on the mainland. There are no theaters and other amusements for the workman after hours so we must allow him more freedom for recreation on Sunday. I am not in favor of a wide open town, gambling and saloons and all that.

Fred Macfarlane: I believe that if baseball were charged for there would be a better class of people at the Sunday games and that this would overcome the argument that Sunday ball means a bedlam and Fourth of July performance. The new bill protects religious bodies. There is no danger of disturbances around the churches. The churches should be given ample protection.

W. W. Hall: I am opposed to the proposed bill. There are slight changes that might be made in the present law but I am opposed to the tendency to destroy the Sabbath. The nations that have disregarded it have reaped the consequences. I should hate to see such a Sunday here as they have in San Francisco.

J. H. Soper: I believe that every man should have the right to spend his Sunday as he wishes, providing that he does not infringe upon the rights of his neighbor.

R. H. Trent: I would not have drawn up either the existing law or the Quinn bill if I had been drawing up a Sunday law but as there is such a general demand for a more liberal law I will vote for the Quinn bill as the best under the circumstances.

R. A. Jordan: I am not in favor of any change.

After the members had expressed their opinions a vote was taken and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: James Steiner, Captain Soule, M. Brash, H. P. Roth, John Nott, Q. H. Berrey, C. J. Ludvigsen, Norman Watkins, J. G. Rothwell, W. Lishman, J. O. Lutted, A. Gartenberg, F. W. Macfarlane, M. A. Gonsalves, A. Focke, D. H. Lewis, C. Du Roi, J. H. Soper, E. I. Spalding, J. A. M. Johnson, E. A. McNerny, M. Phillips, Chas. H. Bellina, S. I. Shaw, H. H. Williams, G. W. Smith, R. H. Trent, Fred Waldron, W. H. Smith.

Noes: W. A. Bowen, W. W. Hall, R. A. Jordan.

President Smith stated that a special meeting would soon be called to consider the possibility of the Association acting in conjunction with other similar organizations on other islands. He stated that the Hilo Board of Trade
